1.9 Student Services

ADSM students are primarily working professionals who require very different services than a traditional undergraduate student. To meet the needs of the unique student population, Student Services at ADSM have been focused to meet each student's needs effectively.

Starting with prospective students, ADSM's Recruitment Team provides prospective students with accurate and detailed information. This includes admissions requirements, admission deadlines, requirements for verified documents, available scholarships, and any other information that will support making an informed decision. The Recruitment Team frequently arranges Information Sessions, during these open sessions, prospective students have the opportunity to meet ADSM's faculty and discuss with them the details of each program offered at ADSM. The Recruitment Team may also arrange for prospective students to meet with Program Directors or faculty members of the program they are considering, to ensure that they are fully aware of program requirements and are choosing the program that fits their career aspirations.

The Office of Student Affairs arranges an Orientation Session at the commencement of all new cohort intakes. Topics covered aim to assist students in settling into graduate studies. The Orientation includes a session on Case Study Analysis to give students an insight into the type of work expected at a graduate level. Orientation also includes a session on the e-library, the physical library, and IT resources, along with information regarding ADSM policies and procedures. The orientation provides an opportunity for new students to meet academic and professional staff, and to meet fellow classmates and future colleagues.

Throughout their journey at ADSM, the Office of Student Affairs systematically monitors students' performance to provide them with the necessary support to maintain good academic standing and complete their program of study successfully. The Office regularly conducts an audit on students' performance to identify students who were not able to maintain adequate academic standing with a Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) above the minimum threshold of 3.0, or were not able to meet the conditions of their acceptance. The Office then communicates with the identified students to provide them with support and guide them to benefit from the services provided at the Academic Support Center.

The Office also arranges academic support sessions, in collaboration with the Academic Support Center, aiming to support the academic development and the achievement of each student's goals. Although the vast majority of ADSM's students are working professionals, the Office of Student Affairs ensures that students have access to career services in collaboration with the Academic Support Center. The career services range from advice on CV writing and interview skills, to career planning and counselling. Furthermore, through channeling the work of Community Engagement, the Office enables the provision of organizing co-curricular activities. For example, hosting talks by prospective employers and developing industries provide students with the opportunity to identify emerging career opportunities.

For 2020 – 2021 AY, the full time faculty to student ratio at ADSM stood at 1:20. Currently all ADSM's faculty are considered international, and the full time equivalent (FTE) international faculty to faculty ratio is 1:1. ADSM's current overall student satisfaction rate is 97.5%.

The Office of Student Affairs organizes Academic Support Sessions for each term, and students may book individual appointments via the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

2.4 Class Attendance

ADSM provides its students with an academic schedule that accommodates their needs, and encourages students to attend all class sessions by adopting a pedagogical approach that is engaging and interactive. ADSM Students are required to attend and participate fully in all class sessions, workshops and other sessions scheduled for their respective course(s). In case the students miss a class session, they are responsible to complete any missed assignments or task assigned during that particular class session, with the permission of their instructor(s). ADSM mandates attendance in specific situations, such as presentations, controlled and formative assessments.

To be eligible to sit for the final assessment, students are required to attend a minimum of 50% of class sessions. Students may be required to complete catch-up activities, as set in P 423 Student Attendance Policy. Students who miss more than 50% will not be allowed to sit for the final assessment under any circumstances.

For more details, refer to P 423 Student Attendance Policy, appended to this Catalog, and available on the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

Maintaining the Learning Environment

Certain behaviors disrupt classes; for example, late arrivals, ringing phones, or noises from electronic devices, etc. All members of the class are expected to respect the learning environment and the lecturer's efforts to maintain it. Lecturers have full authority to decide whether a student is disruptive. In addition, lecturers can refer the student to the Academic Dean for review of disciplinary options. Repeat offenders will be reported to the Disciplinary Committee and may be withdrawn from the class.

Participation

Students are expected to actively engage in class discussions, both by speaking during class sessions and by writing in online forums and discussions on the Learning Management System (LMS). In all communications, instructors and fellow students should be treated with respect and tolerance, while derogatory or inflammatory comments on the cultures or attitudes of others in the class are not permitted.

For more details, please refer to P 313 Academic Progress Policy and P 423 Student Attendance Policy, appended to this Catalog, and available on the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

2.6 Release of Grades

Course grades are generally available within two weeks after the class and assessment periods. Grades can be viewed online via the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

2.7 In Progress “IP” Grades

A status of “In Progress” (IP) may be awarded to a student at ADSM as per the conditions stipulated in the Grading and Assessment Policy, which is found on the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae). It is the responsibility of the student to resolve the IP grade according to the directions given and within the permitted timeframe as detailed in the policy. Students who do not make up incomplete work within the specified time periods will receive a final grade from the instructor based on normal class requirements, with a numerical value of “0” calculated into the final grade for all items that remain incomplete at the end of the time period.

2.8 Grade Disputes

ADSM permits the review of class grades subject to the parameters and timeframes that are detailed in the current versions of P 419 Student Appeals Policy and P 303 Grade Approval and Change Policy are appended to this Catalog and can be found at the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

2.9 Grade and GPA Requirements

To be eligible for graduation, students must attain a minimum 3.0 cumulative grade point average (GPA) on all credit earned at ADSM. For exact information about the calculation of GPAs, please refer to the Grading and Assessment Policy. For more information on minimal GPAs for continuation in a program of study and for graduation, please refer to P 313 Academic Progress Policy and P 307 Graduate Completion Requirements Policy. Both policies are appended to this Catalog, and can be found online at the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

2.10 Graduation Honors

Honors at graduation are awarded to graduate students based on their GPA as follow:

Merit	CGPA
Summa Cum Laude (“With Highest Honor”)	4.00
Magna Cum Laude (“With Great Honor”)	3.80 – 3.99
Cum Laude (“With Honor”)	3.50 – 3.79
Very Good	3.25 – 3.49
Good	3.00 – 3.24

Honors are determined based on CGPA averages of all program graduates from within the current academic year.

2.11 Leave of Absence

Students are eligible to take a leave of absence contingent upon regulations enumerated in P 313 Academic Progress Policy and P 424 Student Enrollment Policy, appended to this Catalog, and available online at the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae). In general, the terms of a leave of absence are based upon a formal request by the student to the School. Successful requests are granted with specific expiration dates and conditions for return to ADSM.

2.12 Deadlines for Dropping or Withdrawing from Courses

Ceasing to attend class does not constitute an official withdrawal. Students must notify the Office of Student Affairs before the withdrawal date in order to withdraw from a course. Students not officially withdrawing from a subject will be awarded a final grade based on the normal course requirements, with a numerical value of “0” calculated into the final grade for all course requirements not completed. Withdrawals also depend on specific timeframes within a term and are thus limited to specific periods that are designated on the official ADSM academic calendar. Grade and financial repercussions depend on when a withdrawal is made according to P 313 ADSM Academic Progress Policy and P 411 Student Finance Policy which are appended to this Catalog, and can be found online at the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

2.13 Withdrawal from ADSM

Students can withdraw completely from ADSM but must do so according to processes enumerated in P 313 Academic Progress Policy and at specific dates in order to avoid academic and financial penalties. A student who withdraws from a program without properly filling in the appropriate forms is financially responsible for the program cost according to the schedule contained in P 411 Student Financial Policy, appended to this Catalog, and can be found at the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae). Failure to withdraw without following official regulations will subject the student to penalties as well as possible legal recourse.

2.14 Mandatory Leave/Withdrawal

ADSM reserves the right to determine, at its discretion, that each student is participating successfully in the School’s educational and co-curricular programs. Furthermore, ADSM reserves the right to determine whether a student’s behavior complies with the School’s rules, regulations, and policies; that it does not impede another student’s performance, threaten anyone’s safety, or otherwise disrupt the School’s operations.

In this circumstance, ADSM can mandate that a student be withdrawn from a subject or terminated from the academic program according to processes dictated in P 303 Academic Progress Policy, P 418 Academic Integrity Policy, P 414 Student Rights and Responsibilities Policy, P 603 Appropriate Use of Technology Policy, P 412 Student Disciplinary Policy, or other official ADSM policies as deemed relevant. All policies are appended to this Catalog, and can be found at the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

2.15 Readmission to ADSM

In order to be readmitted once having officially withdrawn from ADSM, students must go through the application for readmission process. This readmission process consists of a letter of request to the Registrar. In this letter, the student must address his or her reason for wanting to return, how the student has addressed any issues that resulted in the withdrawal, and how the student will use any resources to aid in his or her academic performance and/or other concerns. Readmission will also be dependent on any sanctions that may have been imposed by the Student Disciplinary Committee, if any.

4.0 Academic Integrity, Code of Conduct, and Grievances

4.1 Academic Integrity at ADSM

The School is committed to be an international leader in management education. The School focuses on educating innovative leaders capable of initiating, managing, and implementing change. Consistent with this mission, ADSM welcomes diversity within its community and requires each member to respect the values of other members of the community. To maintain the integrity of the diverse cultures, present at ADSM, certain standards of academic conduct must be adhered to by each graduate student, faculty member, staff member, and administrator throughout his or her experience at the School. Every member of the ADSM community is required to uphold the principles embodied in the Academic Integrity Policy.

All members of the School community, students, faculty, and staff, share responsibility to bring forward known acts of apparent academic dishonesty. Any member of the academic community who witnesses or otherwise becomes aware of an act of academic dishonesty should report it to the appropriate faculty member or to the Program Director.

ADSM's P 418 Academic Integrity Policy is a comprehensive review of the School's requirements in this regard as well as the various penalties for breaches of the policy. This policy is closely associated with P 414 Student Rights and Responsibility Policy and P 603 Appropriate Use of Technology Policy. All policies are appended to this Catalog, can be found online at the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

Because of the seriousness of academic integrity and to avoid the possible misunderstandings made by new students, the following is a list of some examples of what can constitute academic dishonesty:

Cheating: Cheating is any form of fraudulent or deceptive academic act, including intentionally using or attempting to use unauthorized materials, information, or study aids in any academic exercise. Examples of Cheating:

- Unauthorized use of notes, text, or other aids during an assessment.
- Copying from another student's assessment, research paper, case write-up, lab report, homework, computer disk, flash drive, etc.
- Handing in the same paper/assignment/components of a paper for more than one course without the written or explicit permission of the instructors.
- Sabotaging another student's work or record.
- Receiving assistance/help on an academic exercise from another person/resource without the expressed permission of the instructor.

Duplicate Submission: Duplicate submission is the submitting of the same or similar work for credit in more than one course without prior approval of the instructors for those same courses.

Plagiarism: Plagiarism is the representation of others' ideas as one's own without giving proper attribution to the original author(s). Plagiarism occurs when a student copies direct phrases from a text (e.g. books, journals, and internet) and does not provide quotation marks or paraphrases or summarizes those ideas without giving credit to the author(s). In all cases, if such information is not properly and accurately documented with appropriate credit given, then the student has committed plagiarism.

Fabrication: The intentional and unauthorized falsification, misrepresentation, or invention of information, data, or citation in an academic exercise. Examples of fabrication:

- Making up the data for a research project.
- Altering the results of a lab experiment or survey.
- Listing a citation for a source not used.
- Stating an opinion as a scientifically proven fact.

Facilitating Academic Dishonesty: Intentionally or knowingly helping or attempting to help another to violate any provision of this policy. Examples of facilitating academic dishonesty:

- Inaccurately listing as co-author of a paper, case write-up, or project someone who did not contribute.
- Sharing a take-home assessment, homework assignment, case write-up, lab report, etc. with another without the expressed permission of the instructor.
- Taking an assessment or writing a paper for another student.

4.2 ADSM Student Code of Conduct

Members of the ADSM community are expected to observe and respect the personal and property rights of others. The responsibility of all students to comply with laws, ordinances, bylaws, and regulations applies both on and off campus. It is expected that the instructors, staff, and students of ADSM conduct themselves in a professional and respectful manner that befits a prestigious institution of learning. ADSM expects its students to adhere to the Code of Conduct, as detailed in P 115 Code of Conduct Policy, appended to this Catalog and available on the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

The P 115 Code of Conduct Policy is closely related to P 414 Student Rights and Responsibilities Policy as well as P 418 Academic Integrity Policy and P 603 Appropriate Use of Technology Policy. However, it is impossible to cover every standard of behavior. Therefore, these policies, which are appended to this Catalog, and available on the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae), do not constitute a comprehensive code of conduct, but are instead a set of guidelines necessary for meeting the practical, routine requirements of an academic community.

ADSM affirms its commitment to strive for a fair, humane, and respectful environment for all employees and students. It is the policy of the School to maintain a working and learning environment that values and expects respectful conduct and communication. Every member of the ADSM community has the right to live, learn, work, and otherwise participate in an environment that is free from all forms of harassment by any other member of the community. The School encourages freedom of inquiry, opinion, and speech, and it will defend the right of anyone to express his or her views. However, the right of expression must be exercised responsibly without depriving others of their right to enjoy this and all other opportunities provided by the School with respect to the laws, culture and heritage of the United Arab Emirates.

As a general overview of topics of primary importance to the conduct of instructors, staff, and students at ADSM, the following types of unacceptable behavior are specifically enumerated in the Student Rights and Responsibility Policy:

- Disorderly Conduct
- Smoking Outside of Designated Areas
- Harassment
- Possession of Weapons
- Providing False Information and Misrepresentation
- Theft/Damage/Vandalism of or to Personal, School, or Public Property
- Unauthorized Entry into School Facilities

4.3 Computer Ethics and Usage

Computer abuse affects everyone who uses computing facilities and results in significant expense to the School. Therefore, ADSM policies regarding computer usage and use of the Wi-Fi network apply to ADSM students, faculty, and staff. In general, the same moral and ethical behaviors that apply in the non-computing environment apply in the computing environment. Actions that are unacceptable in the School community also are unacceptable on the network, computing systems and other electronic services including:

- Harassment in any form
- Failure to respect the rights and property of others
- Forgery or other misrepresentation of one's identity
- Distribution, redistribution, attempted downloading, or downloading of copyrighted materials without the permission of the copyright owner.

It is the responsibility of each ADSM community member to use the services provided by the School's campus network and computing systems appropriately and in compliance with all laws and regulations. Furthermore, users are expected to use computer, electronic mail, and network services in an effective, ethical, responsible, and efficient manner consistent with the instructional, research, public service, and administrative goals of the School.

ADSM treats access and usage violations seriously. Access to the School computing facilities and information resources is a privilege and may be restricted or terminated at the School's sole discretion. In addition, more severe disciplinary actions can be taken according to the terms of the ADSM P 603 Appropriate Use of Technology Policy, which is appended to this Catalog, and can be found online at the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae). Violations to this policy may result in disciplinary action and possible prosecution by government officials.

4.4 Resolution of Complaints

The policy and procedures for the investigation of violations, the application of disciplinary actions, and the various rights of the affected party to appeal the decision are contained in P 419 Student Appeals Policy and P 420 Student Disciplinary Policy.

In Summary, students are advised to attempt to resolve each situation through informal channels. If after making a good-faith effort to reach an amicable resolution, no resolution has been reached, the student may utilize the procedures outlined within the related policy.

Students wishing to request grade appeals should follow the principles and procedures stipulated in P 303 Grade Approval and Change Policy. For other academic appeals, students must follow P 419 Student Appeals Policy, basically students must submit a signed Appeals Form to the Office of Student Affairs. The Office will advise and guide the student through the process.

For non-academic matters, arising from alleged violations of ADSM policies, students should follow the principles and procedures stipulated in P 420 Student Grievances Policy. Students must submit a signed Grievance Form to the Office of Student Affairs, and the Office will advise and guide the student through the process.

All related policies are appended to this Catalog, and can be found online at the ADSM Student WebPortal (lms.adsm.ac.ae).

5.7 The Signature Learning Experience (SLE)

ADSM's MBA program incorporates Signature Learning Experiences (SLEs) into the curriculum to develop entrepreneurial leaders. These educational experiences occur throughout the program, giving students the opportunity to integrate the knowledge gained in the classroom and apply it to entrepreneurial decision making. The focus is not only on the development of the business skills necessary to be successful in an ever-changing global environment, but also to give the students the skill sets necessary to manage themselves and others in this context. The SLEs also emphasize the importance of strong communication skills, plus an ethical and societal approach to decision making, all in the context of a global economic environment. Here are a few examples of how these experiences are brought to life:

Idea Creation: Creating is the first step in Entrepreneurial Thought and Action. Students will explore and experience something new as they are challenged to take risks, make a difference, and to be innovative and unconventional. Student groups will develop and deliver a creativity presentation to their MBA peers, faculty, and the ADSM community.

Team Building: Students tackle the question of how to build effective teams. Through a range of activities, students gain insights into their own and into their peers' behavior in teams. Students also have an opportunity to practice giving and receiving feedback and use tools to help others contribute positively to team endeavors.

Feasibility Analysis: Once students have an idea in mind, the next step is to analyze its feasibility. Feasibility is critical, whether one is interested in new venture creation, corporate or social entrepreneurship, or any new project or process. In this project, students work to understand the customer group and its needs, assess the durability of the opportunity, understand the competitive landscape and identify possible business models that provide value to both the business and its stakeholders.

5.8 Mode of Delivery

The MBA program is offered in a traditional face-to-face teaching mode. The program is offered in a modular format with each module offered in an intensive format. 15 contact hours are delivered for each credit and a 2-credit course involves a minimum of 30 hours of instruction. The Signature Learning Experience (SLE) is delivered in a workshop format.

A 2-credit course is typically delivered as per below:

Self-paced reading session (1 week prior to the start of class)	5 hours

MKT 6210 Marketing (2 credits)

Not all businesses are created equal. More often than not organizations spend resources developing and marketing new products/services only to discover that consumer response is far less ecstatic than expected. The reality is that in most cases consumers are indifferent about the business offerings. To succeed, a business must make a compelling case in terms of consumer experience, deeper purpose, social value, and greater inspiration for consumers as well as employees. Effective marketing management requires a clear understanding of consumers and the market in general. The aims of this course are to help participants understand how marketing contributes to business competitiveness and survival and to provide participants with critical strategic marketing insights, tools, and techniques. Students also gain an understanding of marketing research and its value in analyzing consumers, markets, and the environment.

MGT 6410 Strategy (2 credits)

Strategy, at its most general, refers to the allocation of resources in a competitive environment over relatively long periods of time in the pursuit of specific goals. Strategy is shaped by the underlying market conditions as well as the resources available to management (including the firm's internal structure, systems, and culture). This integration of the external and internal perspectives provides the basic framework for strategic thinking. This course aims to enable students to understand and appreciate the organizational context in which strategic decisions are made. The ADSM Strategy course is intended to give the MBA class a holistic view of the firm; to develop students' ability to think beyond day-to-day business activities; and to challenge them to ask the right questions about its future. These skills are essential for an effective general manager.

LDC 6310 Leadership (2 credits)

Management consists of a set of universal skills that are well understood and can be learned. One of the most important of these skills is leadership. Leadership consists of how each one of us makes a unique difference to the challenges we face with people and projects. It is not about wasting our energy trying to be something we are not. Instead, it is finding new and better ways of 'being ourselves' through enhanced insight and skill. Therefore, our focus in this leadership course will be to help you become more aware of your personality traits through diagnosis (questionnaire assessment exercises), your strengths and weaknesses as a leader through insight (introspection and reflection on one's traits, habits, and behaviors) and to build on this knowledge to improve your leadership practice through self-development (plans to learn and change to more effectively tackle future challenges).

OPS 6310 Operations Management (2 credits)

Managing operations is vital to every type of organization, for it is only through effective and efficient utilization of resources that an organization can be successful in the long run. This is especially true today, when we see that significant competitive advantages accrue to those firms that manage their operations effectively. This class defines operations in the broadest sense, not confining the focus within a set of walls but defining the scope to the thoughts and activities necessary to supply goods and services from conception to consumption. It introduces students to the operational challenges that managers face and provides a set of tools to aid in designing, evaluating and managing business processes to meet company objectives. The course objective is to study how management can gain competitive advantage through operations.

The course is designed to enhance managerial/leadership capabilities by providing a better perspective of human attitudes and behavior, enabling the identification and application of factors that motivate personnel to perform better in the workplace. IT 6210 Global Connections through Technology (2 credits)

Some of the biggest challenges that leaders face in a twenty-first century organization are managing technology, process and people. Computers and technology-mediated networks have transformed global economies, creating new opportunities and challenging the traditional way of doing business. 6.11 MSQBE Course Descriptions

6.11.1 MSQBE Core Courses

RES 8111 Research Methods (3 credits)

This course provides an opportunity for students to establish or advance their understanding of research through critical exploration of research language, ethics, and approaches. The course introduces the language of research, ethical principles and challenges, and the elements of the research process within quantitative, qualitative, and mixed methods approaches. Participants will use these theoretical underpinnings to begin to critically review literature relevant to their field or interests and determine how research findings are useful in informing their understanding of their environment (work, social, local, global).

QTY 8212 Quality Management Systems and Approaches (3 credits)

In recent years “quality” and “quality management systems” have been leading buzzwords in the business world. Management systems define quality levels in the manufacturing of goods and production of services. However, there is seldom comment on the commercial viability of the output itself. This course develops student understanding of the management principles, disciplines and techniques involved in quality management systems within, and their impact external to an organization. The environmental relationships between the various elements in an organization must also be clearly understood to allow managers to appropriately assess the impacts of any change, on operations and/or business strategy. The course aims to enhance student awareness of management systems, approaches, and applications in today's business landscape, whilst also providing an appreciation of the decision making in organizational risk management.

QTY 8213 Business Excellence Awards and Frameworks (3 credits)

This course focuses on the need to be able to understand and support initiatives introduced to organizations for achieving global competitive advantage. In particular, they need to be able to understand the business consequences of following different courses of action in improvement activities leading ultimately to excellence in customer satisfaction, employee satisfaction, and impact on society and business results. Excellence in a business context is a combination of internal excellence in how things are done (enablers) leading to outstanding business performance (results). Excellence is recognized worldwide through awards such as the European Quality Award, the Baldrige Award and the Deming

Award as well as national awards that are based on these. This course introduces the fundamental concepts that underpin non-prescriptive approaches to creating sustainable excellence in a business, and provides an opportunity for students to critically reflect on the skills necessary to manage the business processes of organizations in the way they do business, and in their relationships with their employees, shareholders, customers and communities in which they operate.

QTY 8214 Japanese Quality Improvement Approaches and Structures (3 credits)

In the 1950s and 1960s, Japanese goods were synonymous with cheapness and low quality, but over time their quality initiatives began to be successful, with Japan achieving very high levels of quality in products from the 1970s onward. In recent times, Japan has become world renowned for its incredible record for total quality control, quality improvement process and lean management. Unlike the traditional approach to quality control that is administered by quality inspectors at the end of the production process, the Japanese approach to quality control focuses on building superior quality in the production process through the development of team-oriented human resource management (HRM) practices. This course reflects on the influences responsible for the improvement of Japanese Quality practices and approaches from the Second World War to the present time. The course investigates the Toyota Production System as well as the influence of statistical process control and lean management.

QTY 8215 Quality Improvement Tools and Techniques (3 credits)

Understanding processes so that they can be improved by means of a systematic approach requires the knowledge of a range of tools or techniques for quality improvement. This course provides students with a critical understanding of a variety of these tools and techniques of quality, encouraging and allowing an exploration of the applicability and effectiveness of different quality tools and techniques within the design, manufacture and use of products and services. The course enables an exploration of the applicability and effectiveness of different quality tools and techniques for all organizational types in a variety of circumstances. The course draws on examples from current research to establish 'cutting edge' quality performance techniques.

BUS 8421 Strategic Management Principles (3 credits)

This course provides students with a holistic view and understanding of how different types of organizations manage the dynamics of strategy and policy formulation, implementation, and evaluation in order to respond to changes in both internal and external environmental dynamics and develop sustainable competitive advantage. The course considers the strategic choice options for managers and looks at the concepts of complexity and complex adaptive systems within the lens of organizational dynamics. Strategy is an integrative discipline. Analysis requires students to look at the company as a whole rather than in terms of its isolated functions and in terms of the company's place in the wider context of industry and environment rather than as an isolated entity.

QTY 8217 Achieving Business Excellence (3 credits)

This course focuses on the leadership and management challenges associated with achieving or working towards Business Excellence. Increasingly the business world recognizes that overall Business Excellence requires a combination of internal enablers, which identify how things are done, and methods to understand how and why results are achieved, giving a clear outstanding of business performance. With over 900 Business Excellence Awards worldwide, this course will concentrate on the framework awards such as the European Quality Award, the Baldrige Award and the Deming Prize as well as national awards that are based on these. This course reflects the fundamental concepts of excellence that underpin the approaches to creating sustainable excellence in business.

BUS 8219 Operations Management (3 credits)

Managing operations is vital to every type of organization, for it is only through effective and efficient utilization of resources that an organization can be successful in the long run. This is especially true today, when we see that significant competitive advantages accrue to those firms that manage their operations effectively. It is critical in today's fast paced world of business that operations managers appreciate the effect that the interaction of operations has on the organization itself, as well as on its employees and customers. Priority areas of focus include the linkages between process and operations design, business strategy and globalization. This course aims to develop a critical understanding of the role of operations management in relation to organizational performance and competitiveness. It will build knowledge of operations management principles and concepts, and critically appraise how they can be applied, across different organizational functions.

6.11.2 MSQBE Elective Courses

QTY 8218 Quality and Business Excellence Gurus

An increasing body of research shows that many individuals have made substantial contributions to the theory and practice of quality management. These include the well-known "gurus" W. Edwards Deming, Joseph M. Juran, and Philip B. Crosby, as well as many other consultants, business executives, and academic researchers, such as Tom Peters and Armand Feigenbaum. Their philosophical writings and lectures have helped shape management thought as well as provide the foundation for practical management frameworks designed around quality. The theories of these gurus are essential in understanding the concept of Total Quality Management (TQM) and business excellence. The principles and practices associated with and attributed to these gurus remain as seminal work in the area of quality and business excellence. However, this course also incorporates the work and concepts of modern-day Gurus from the business world to allow a full exploration of philosophies and impact. This is especially relevant to today's business environment given the different approaches to quality, service or product.

BUS 8220 Supply Chain Management

Fierce global competition and advanced information technology have forced companies to manage their supply chains to increase responsiveness to market dynamics. This course addresses key concepts of supply chain management, metrics for measuring supply chain performance, the promise of the real-time supply chain, and forecasting techniques. This course provides students with clear insight into how good supply chain management offers a competitive advantage. However, students also learn, through reference to latest research reports, the dangers of poor supply chain management, and how it can damage an organization's overall health and performance.

BUS 8414 Managing Organization Change (3 credits)

The course provides students with an advanced understanding of the concepts, theories, and techniques of managing change in an organization by critically assessing the theories of organizational culture and the psychological contract. The course will examine a range of tools and techniques which can facilitate the change process, based on a number of theoretical models.

BUS 8418 Creative Problem Solving (3 credits)

The course will introduce students to the latest thinking in the areas of creativity, the creative process, knowledge management practices, and will also reflect on the nature of entrepreneurship. In a global world, where increasing competition, rapidly evolving technologies and changing outlooks and attitudes transform the way we live and work, generating new ideas that fit the changing times is essential. Critical thinking – reflecting on the assumptions underlying our actions and considering new ways of looking at the world and living in it – is an essential skill for leaders at this time. Critical thinkers do not passively accept what they read, rather, they reflect to derive new alternatives. This course supports students in applying concepts and methods to make valuable contributions at work and influence those around them.

BUS 8419 Conflict Management (3 credits)

Wherever people work together, occasional conflict is inevitable. What sets one organization apart from another is how people respond to conflict when it does arise. This course views conflict as an ever-present component of any decision-making environment. It offers tools for understanding the nature of conflict and of individual and joint decision-making processes; devising individual and group strategies that minimize the destructive consequences of conflict; and, identifying solutions satisfactory to all involved. Students will analyze decision-making situations, understand the stakes of all involved, identify the sources of conflict and design strategies that recognize the positive and sometimes negative pressures on cooperation.

7.11 MSLOD Course Descriptions

7.11.1 Core Courses

RES 8111 Research Methods (3 credits)

This course provides an opportunity for students to establish or advance their understanding of research through critical exploration of research language, ethics, and approaches. The course introduces the language of research, ethical principles and challenges, and the elements of the research process within quantitative, qualitative, and mixed methods approaches. Participants will use these theoretical underpinnings to begin to critically review literature relevant to their field or interests and determine how research findings are useful in informing their understanding of their environment (work, social, local, global).

LED 8312 Leadership Culture and Ethics (3 credits)

This course explores the key issues around strategic leadership, culture and ethics in organization and business environments. This will involve reviewing relevant theory, models and concepts and their practical application to business today. The course identifies the concepts and approaches involved in nurturing a culture of trust and ethical consideration in business. Successful businesses demonstrate honesty, transparency, ethical behavior and open communication.

LED 8313 Leadership and Organizational Development Principles and Applications (3 credits)

The reality of everyday organizational life is that it is filled with uncertainty, contradictions and paradoxes. This course explores issues related to the effective leadership of organizational development including both change and management, and the issues of understanding and empowerment toward innovative practices. The course develops the issues of sustainable change in organizations and investigates the state of turbulence and complexity that today's organizations encounter.

BUS 8414 Managing Organization Change (3 credits)

The course provides students with an advanced understanding of the concepts, theories, and techniques of managing change in an organization by critically assessing the theories of organizational culture and the psychological contract. The course will analyze the principles of organizational development and discuss the concepts of the learning organization and Knowledge Management within the context of organizational change. The course will examine a range of tools and techniques which can facilitate the change process, based on a number of theoretical models.

LED 8315 Leading Sustainable Performance (3 credits)

The application of sustainable principles in business was once the preserve of the minority. In recent times these principles have moved into the mainstream of business. Organizations are moving beyond merely cultivating a green image and are fully embracing sustainability. Increasingly sustainability is seen to provide opportunities for future growth. More senior executives view sustainability as a long term strategy. In the current business landscape, it is businesses that have no ambitions in sustainability that form the minority.

This course aims to develop the students' knowledge and understanding of why firms are embracing sustainable practices, how companies are embedding corporate social responsibility into their businesses, and how they are gauging and reporting their success.

BUS 8421 Strategic Management Principles (3 credits)

This course provides students with a holistic view and understanding of how different types of organizations manage the dynamics of strategy and policy formulation, implementation, and evaluation in order to respond to changes in both internal and external environmental dynamics and develop sustainable competitive advantage. The course considers the strategic choice options for managers and looks at the concepts of complexity and complex adaptive systems within the lens of organizational dynamics.

Strategy is an integrative discipline. Analysis requires students to look at the company as a whole rather than in terms of its isolated functions and in terms of the company's place in the wider context of industry and environment rather than as an isolated entity.

LED 8325 Organizational Behavior (3 credits)

Organizational Behavior is the study of how individuals and groups impact the behavior within an organization. Organizational Behavior presents a comprehensive introduction to the process of management and the science of organizational behavior so that students comprehend the fundamental theories of management and of human behavior in organizational environments. Thus the course examines the history and a contemporary analysis of these two concepts relating them to aspects of the individual, the group and to organizational systems. It is an interdisciplinary field drawing from numerous disciplines including psychology, sociology, economics, and organization theory. Additionally, the course covers emotion, emotional intelligence, work motivation, work attitudes, job satisfaction, work teams and group dynamics. In this course, conceptual frameworks and case discussions are included to assist students in developing their communication and group /team work competencies to critically analyze related complex information.

LED 8320 The Challenges of Organizational Leadership (3 credits)

By the end of this course, students should be able to identify and critically appraised the various challenges that leadership in contemporary public and private organizations will encounter and the wide range of methodologies they could implement in order to successfully overcome these challenges. Students as potential leaders will be able to evaluate the leadership approaches as well as critically comment on strategies to implement effective change in organizations specifically in the UAE and /or GCC region and comment on these in relation to a global context and the future development of the organizational leadership issue.

7.11.2 Elective Course Descriptions

BUS 8418 Creative Problem Solving (3 credits)

The course will introduce students to the latest thinking in the areas of creativity, the creative process, knowledge management practices, and will also reflect on the nature of entrepreneurship. In a global world, where increasing competition, rapidly evolving technologies and changing outlooks and attitudes transform the way we live and work, generating new ideas that fit the changing times is essential. Critical thinking – reflecting on the assumptions underlying our actions and considering new ways of looking at the world and living in it – is an essential skill for leaders at this time. Critical thinkers do not passively accept what they read, rather, they reflect to derive new alternatives. This course supports students in applying concepts and methods to make valuable contributions at work and influence those around them.

BUS 8419 Conflict Management (3 credits)

Wherever people work together, occasional conflict is inevitable. What sets one organization apart from another is how people respond to conflict when it does arise. This course views conflict as an ever-present component of any decision-making environment. It offers tools for understanding the nature of conflict and of individual and joint decision-making processes; devising individual and group strategies that minimize the destructive consequences of conflict; and, identifying solutions satisfactory to all involved. Students will analyze decision-making situations, understand the stakes of all involved, identify the sources of conflict and design strategies that recognize the positive and sometimes negative pressures on cooperation.

BUS 8340 Concepts in Contemporary International Business Management (3 credits)

The role of today's leaders and managers are highly impacted by the aspect of global interconnectedness, as the scope of organizations and their activities span across international borders. This course will introduce students to a variety of concepts that contribute to the dynamic environment of global business, enabling participants to appreciate how to be effective leaders/managers utilizing factors such as digital transformation, innovation, and creativity that are key drivers to success in today's business world.

8.11 MSBA Course Descriptions

8.11.1 MSBA Core Courses

BUS 8401 Analytics in Business (3 credits)

This module lays the “Business” foundations for your MSc Business Analytics degree. As a complement to the technical skills you will be gaining, we will critically evaluate topics in business to which new kinds of data and analytics are being applied, along with advances in analytics that are changing how business is done. The importance of business analytics as a support for decision making and its importance in the business environment is increasing at unprecedented levels, enabling executives, managers and other corporate end users to analyze a variety of forms of data and present actionable information to help make informed business decisions.

DAT 8502 Data Structures and Algorithms (3 credits)

This course introduces the students to the basics of algorithms and data structures for developing computational approaches to problem solving. The design of efficient computational methods for analyzing large data sets lies in the core of modern technological innovation ranging from search engines and social networks to healthcare, energy and finance. The course will familiarize the students with key algorithm design paradigms (such as divide-and-conquer and greedy algorithms) and data structure design, as well as central concepts of computational complexity and running-time analysis. Students will develop a working knowledge of basic algorithms (such as searching, sorting, and shortest paths) and data structures along with the necessary programming constructs. The course will also serve as an introduction to the Python programming language, aimed at developing a facility in organizing and writing medium-sized programs for practical problem-solving. The course will be hands-on assisted by teaching assistants and will also teach students debugging and good programming practices.

DAT 8503 Fundamentals of Database Technologies (3 credits)

This module introduces students to practical usage of databases with the main emphasis on SQL and related technologies. SQL is a time-tested solution to a wide range of business and engineering problems. Being able to efficiently interact with it is a core skill for all professions dealing with storing and retrieving data. In particular, forming SQL queries is often the starting point for any data analysis. Moreover, many database and data processing solutions are strongly influenced by SQL philosophy and design, for example data frames (as found in Python and R). As big data problems are more and more prevalent for business, this module introduces basics of their processing with Apache Spark - a versatile, big data processing engine. For pragmatic reasons the main focus will be on SparkSQL. This module will use PostgreSQL - one of the most popular and powerful object-relational database management systems. Spark and SparkSQL exercises will be held in Python, within the Jupyter Notebook interactive environment.

DAT 8504 Machine Learning (3 credits)

Machine learning is a method of data analysis that automates analytical model building. Using algorithms that iteratively learn from data, machine learning allows computers to find hidden insights without being explicitly programmed where to look. e.g. The self-driving Google car, online recommendation offers like those from Amazon and Netflix and fraud detection. The ability to automatically apply complex mathematical calculations to big data is however a recent development.

The resurging interest in machine learning is due to the growing volumes and varieties of available data, and computational processing that are now cheaper and more powerful, when combined with affordable data storage. This means it is possible to quickly and automatically produce models that can analyze bigger, more complex data and deliver faster, more accurate predictions that can guide better decisions and smart actions in real time without human intervention. This module aims to enable students to appraise the analytics skills and methodologies for large-scale data analysis.

MTH 8605 Math and Statistics Foundations for Analytics (3 credits)

This course provides the foundation of programming in R using a statistics and probability refresher as a conduit for introducing programming tools and concepts. The class covers tools and techniques to get you started on your journey as R users and data scientists. The class reviews probability and statistics concepts that will be helpful to approach any data analysis task. Most of the material covered will be called upon again in other classes this year, therefore it is essential that you master it. The tools and techniques you will learn are important if you want to pursue a data science career or if you want to work with data scientists. While R is the tool used in this class, programming tools and principles that you will learn will be useful for work you do using other languages (e.g. python, ruby, java, C++).

DAT 8506 Network Analytics (3 credits)

Networks arise in many different contexts and a vast amount of networked data is now generated. For instance, social networks such as Facebook and Twitter generate an immense amount of data that is invaluable to marketers and businesses to obtain product feedback and carry out targeted marketing.

Traffic patterns and origin-destination analysis is invaluable for real-time logistics planning. In this course we cover algorithms, analysis and interpretation of network data and relationships.

MTH 8607 Optimization and Decision Models (3 credits)

This module introduces the students to Operations Research, which is the study of advanced analytical and computational methods to support effective and informed managerial decision-making based on data. The principal idea in Operations Research is to formulate managerial decision problems as mathematical problems, which can subsequently be solved with analytical or numerical techniques. Typical applications include revenue management (e.g. revenue-maximal pricing of train and airline tickets), logistics (cost effective transport of products in a supply chain), financial portfolio management (construction of asset portfolios with a good return/risk tradeoff) and production planning (e.g. reduction of late deliveries or inventory holding costs). The module will explore various mathematical techniques to formalize and solve managerial decision problems. The use of these methods will be illustrated with applications in diverse disciplines, including supply chain design and production planning, supplier selection, revenue management and finance.

MTH 8608 Statistics and Econometrics (3 credits)

This module covers the statistical tools needed to analyze data in economics and management. The relationships of economic theories are usually expressed in mathematical forms and combined with empirical economics. Econometrics methods are used to obtain the values of parameters which are essentially the coefficients of mathematical form of the economic relationships. The statistical methods which help in explaining the economic phenomenon are adapted as econometric methods. Econometric methods can be used in other areas like engineering sciences, biological sciences, medical sciences, geosciences, agricultural sciences etc.

The module focuses on parameter estimation and hypothesis testing within the framework of the classical linear regression model. Advanced topics include panel data methods, instrumental variables estimation, limited dependent variable models, as well as regression analysis with time series data. Considerable attention is devoted to applications of the techniques in economics, finance and management.

DAT 8509 Visualization (3 credits)

The aim of this module is to equip students with a comprehensive and practical understanding of data visualization: a multi-disciplinary recipe of art, science, math, technology and many other interesting ingredients. The emphasis of the module is to instill the necessary critical thinking required to best judge the many analytical, practical and design decisions involved in this activity. The module will offer a blend of academic and applied perspectives, covering the full suite of conceptual, theoretical and practical capabilities required to master this multidisciplinary pursuit. Teaching content will be supplemented by case study demonstration and experience from real-life applications. In-class exercises and course assignments will further embed this learning process.

8.11.2 MSBA Elective Courses

BUS 8412 Data Management and Ethics (3 credits)

This course will give you detailed knowledge of data acquisition through to data cleaning/curation and digital preservation. You will gain experience of data processing and critical thinking with regard to issues of data ethics and privacy.

BUS 8413 Digital Marketing Analytics (3 credits)

The objective of the course is to consider the problems that arise in digital marketing and the models and business requirements of digital marketing. The course will consist of hands-on practical analysis of two to three digital marketing specific data sets using the methodologies learned earlier in the program.

DAT 8517 Workforce Analytics (3 credits)

This course enables students to explore and manipulate data utilizing Python. The aims are, firstly, to advance Python programming skills by working with real data. Secondly, to understand how workforce data can be generated and stored. Finally, to explore how analytics can be implemented in the workplace to make decisions related to recruitment, promotions, performance evaluation and team building.

8.11.3 Capstone Course

CAP 8918 Capstone Project- Business Analytics (3 credit)

The Capstone Project in Business Analytics has been designed to develop your managerial and analytical capabilities by applying your acquired theoretical knowledge and skills to the real business situation. The Capstone Project will involve original investigation. This may mean the collection and analysis of original data, re-analysis of existing data, or other forms of original analysis related to the problem selected for investigation. Research designs may take many forms and may be descriptive, exploratory, or experimental, for example, and may use many types of qualitative or quantitative data.

The focus is on managing a real-world analytics project from inception to completion, drawing on your knowledge from other courses you have completed on the program. The Capstone Project requires students to conduct independent research and write an individual report/essay on a topic of their own choice that relates to the overall program content. The aim of the course is to further develop students' theoretical understanding of a particular topic of their interest through advancing their research and professional writing skills necessary for business success. Students will be supported with additional workshops throughout the year in relation to developing both their research and writing skills.

Section 6 : Principles

6.1. General Principles (See Code of Conduct Policy)

- 6.1.1 Users are expected to use computer, electronic mail, and network services in an effective, ethical, responsible, and efficient manner consistent with the instructional, research, public service, and administrative goals of the School. IT Systems may be used only for their authorized purposes -- that is, to support the research, education, administrative, and other functions of the School.
- 6.1.2 Computer abuse affects everyone who uses computing facilities and results in significant expense to the School. The same moral and ethical behaviors that apply in the non-computing environment apply in the computing environment.
- 6.1.3 Access to the School computing facilities and information resources is a privilege granted to the School's students, faculty, administrators, and staff.
- 6.1.4 Access to the School's computing facilities and information resources may be restricted or terminated at the School's sole discretion based on the following factors: failure to comply with relevant laws and contractual obligations (including the terms of any license agreements); the risk of damage or loss to the School; the impact of a violation upon the community or third parties; and costs incurred by the School in responding to abuses of the system.
- 6.1.5 School IT facilities may not be used in ways that violate the privacy rights of individuals, the School's confidentiality policy, copyright policy, intellectual property regulations or related laws.

- 6.1.6 All electronic and telephonic communication systems and all communications and stored information sent, received, created on, or contained in the ADSM systems are the property of the School, and as such, are to be used for job-related purposes.
